Special Olympics Volunteer Management Series

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Special Olympics Volunteer Management Series has been made possible with the help and dedication of the following:

- Special Olympics staff
- The Global Volunteer Resource Development Team
- Program leadership, with special thanks to Nancy Sawyer and Janet Novak

We would like to extend a special acknowledgement to Betty Stallings for her guidance and expertise and for permission to use her work: Training Busy Staff to Succeed with Volunteers – The 55 Minute In-Service Training Series, on which the following module is based.

Introduction:

Often volunteer recognition is narrowly thought of as a formal banquet, a t-shirt, or a letter that acknowledges a volunteer's service with Special Olympics. But the scope of recognition is much broader than this and must be considered an integral part of every Special Olympics Programs – a management philosophy that continually seeks to notice and value individual contributions.

Powerful and meaningful recognition begins when we recognize the talents and desires of prospective volunteers and offer them the job which responds to their motivational needs. The remainder of meaningful recognition is the myriad ways we formally and informally say, "I noticed" and "thank you."

Recognition should be timely and genuine. It can be either formal or informal and should be based on the motivation and level of responsibility of the volunteer. Informal recognition should exist at all levels of the Program. Formal recognition should be the responsibility of the Program's paid and volunteer staff.
Volunteer Recognition
Learning Objectives:

- Understand the impact of recognition in your own life
- Identify organizational barriers to giving recognition and propose solutions
- Explore ways of offering formal and informal recognition in your Special Olympics Program
  - Discuss creative, low-cost recognition ideas
- Review essential guidelines of effective recognition

Notes:
Personal Recognition Experiences

Think about volunteer recognition in your own life:

- What kind of recognition have you received?
- Was it meaningful?
- Why?

Notes:
Key Concepts of Recognition:

1. Recognition is an ongoing, integral part of the management process.
2. Recognition can be formal or informal and can be given on many occasions during a volunteer's involvement with Special Olympics.
3. Recognition should be meaningful to the recipient and should be given in a timely manner.
4. Recognition can be creative and fun to give and receive and is best when associated with the Program's culture and the volunteer's type of service.
Recognition is an ongoing, integral part of the volunteer management process

Notes:
Can you identify any organizational barriers to giving positive feedback and recognition to your volunteers?

- If so, what are the barriers?
- How can you overcome them?
Key Concept #2

Recognition can be formal or informal and can be given on many occasions during a volunteer's involvement with Special Olympics.

Notes:
Formal Recognition

Major benefits of formal recognition:

1. Building community spirit among volunteers
2. Publicly recognizing volunteers – attracts others to join
3. Boosts volunteer motivation
4. Volunteers see that their service is valued
5. Others
Cautions in Formal Recognition

1. Presuming they replace daily “thank yous”
2. Lack of personal presentations
3. More costly – some people believe that money should be spent solely on the athletes and the Program
4. Poor attendance at formal recognition ceremonies; lack of promotion; time constraints
5. Others

Notes:
My Program Recognizes Volunteers...

- How and when does your Program currently recognize volunteers?
- How could you improve on this?

Notes:
Recognitions

Times for Recognition

- Daily/weekly basis
- Monthly/yearly basis
- Special Occasions (birthday, anniversary date with Special Olympics, holidays, etc.)
- At the end of a large project
- When a volunteer leaves Special Olympics
- Before or after a Special Olympics competition

Notes:
Key Concept #3

Recognition should be meaningful to the recipient and should be given in a timely manner

Notes:
The Appropriate Recognition for the Individual

- What kind of recognition do people motivated by accomplishment like?
- What kind of recognition do people motivated by social interaction enjoy?
- What kind of recognition do people motivated by power like?
Key Concept #4

Recognition can be creative and fun to give and receive. It is best when associated with the Program's culture and the volunteer's type of service.
Innovative Ways to Recognize Volunteers

Describe several ways a Program could recognize the following volunteers:

- Day-of event volunteers
- Office volunteers
- Year-round volunteers
- Committee members
- Games and Area Management Team Members
- Others
Essential Guidelines of Effective Volunteer Recognition

- The key to volunteer recognition is placement in the job most suitable to his/her motivations and talents.
- Recognition must be meaningful to recipients, not to the person giving the recognition.
- Many acts of recognition can be spontaneous and personal and are often not costly.
- Short term volunteers are best recognized at the work-unit level in the group with which they interact.
- Long term volunteers generally like recognition within the larger group setting.

RECOGNITION

Innovative Ways to Recognize Volunteers

Day of Event Volunteers:
- Credential with volunteer's name
- Ticket for lunch
- Public acknowledgment in speeches
- Management team thanks volunteers on the job
- Give away donated or promotional gifts
- Discount coupons for Special Olympics merchandise

Office Volunteers:
- Create a bulletin board that features pictures and accomplishments of each volunteer
- Leave candy kisses at the volunteer's work station
- Send birthday/holiday/anniversary cards
- Feature volunteers in Program newsletter
- Give a small gift after time periods of service – could be a gift created by athletes

Committee Members:
- Give committee member identification cards
- A T-shirt or hat with committee name on it
- Hospitality area for committee members
- List names in Program newsletter
Recognition Participant’s Guide

Year-round Volunteers:
- Write a letter of appreciation to the volunteer’s parent, children, spouse, boss
- Highlight volunteer in Program newsletter
- Include volunteer in Program planning process
- Have an annual party in their honor – this does not have to be a formal banquet
- Offer chance to attend a training with expenses either donated or paid by Special Olympics
- Nominate volunteer for local volunteer award
- Reimburse for some incurred expenses
- Present with pin for 1, 5, 10... 25 years of volunteer service
- Establish a Program designated volunteer week

Management Team Members:
- Provide a name badge
- Provide with a radio, cellular phone or laptop
- Encourage feedback and suggestions on improving the Program
- Offer chance to attend a training with expenses donated or paid by Special Olympics
