

ABOUT

THE MINISERIES

Novie Knows, a subseries of Inclusion Revolution Radio, will launch in the spring of 2025 and will serve as an unscripted platform for host Novie Craven to provide her perspective, as a Special Olympics athlete, on the topics of her choosing.

Joined by featured guests, such as inclusivity advocates and community leaders, Novie will engage audiences to explore life through the experiences of someone with an intellectual disability. From pets to family traditions, to travel experiences, each episode will be different, lively and authentically Novie.

from Special Olympics'
Inclusion Revolution Radio

ABOUT

THE HOST

Novie Craven is an active Special Olympics DC athlete and serves as the communications coordinator for Special Olympics, where she also hosts the Inclusion Revolution Radio podcast. A passionate advocate for inclusion, Novie has competed in various Special Olympics sports, winning gold in bocce at the 2018 Special Olympics USA Games, and uses her platform to drive conversations around access and belonging.

For sponsorship opportunities, contact us at:
podcasts@specialolympics.org

TUNE IN

